About Me

I am a multi-camera studio and OB director, specialising in sport but with broad experience in other genres, and with a proven track record creating and launching new programmes.

I am flexible, creative and confident, with a track record launching distinctive programmes, and working with both high-profile and inexperienced talent.

As an ex-engineer, I am technically adept and comfortable with innovative production workflows and systems. I have experience in modern remote multi-camera production, as well as more traditional gallery and studio operations.
